

NYIC Seminar
"Hot Issues and Litigation Strategy to Defend or Prosecute Preferences Claims"

Thursday, April 22, 2010
3PM-5:30PM
Arnos Ristorante, 141 W38th St, NYC

"In light of the surge in large limited asset cases preference claims have become a major asset available to support liquidation plans. Are you fully versed on the most recent case law and issues presented so you can properly advise clients who could face major claims? Do you represent a debtor and or creditors' committee that needs to understand the true value of avoidance claims? Are you a large creditor who is concerned about potential preference exposure? By attending you will learn the latest developments and insight from two of the most knowledgeable practitioners who have spent most of their legal careers prosecuting and defending avoidance claims..."

"These materials focus on pre-bankruptcy prevention of preference claims and post-bankruptcy methods to analyze the subjective prong of the ordinary course of business ("OCB") defense, how to visually present a client's best case, and the "hot" issues in the § 547(c) defenses. We also explain the interaction of the newly created 503(b)(9) administrative status for sellers of goods as that relates to preference exposure and claims valuation."
